A little history behind my slamming videos:

You might be wondering about the origins of my video recordings and what led me to start this endeavor. Well, it all began in 2013 when I recorded my very first video, and I've continued to do so ever since. Initially, these recordings took place in my apartment in Boise, Idaho. However, over time, they have been filmed in various locations throughout Los Angeles. I've captured footage in parks, motel rooms, public restrooms, alleys, friends' bathrooms, a buddy's basement, and anywhere else I could conveniently access with my cell phone.

Regrettably, some of these videos may not be of the highest quality due to certain circumstances, such as inadequate lighting or the use of a subpar digital camera. I apologize for any inconvenience this may cause.

How it all began:

The story of how my slamming videos came to be is quite interesting. It all started one night when I was hanging out with a friend, and he showed me a website called 'Get2thePoint', which was described as a 'slamming fraternity for men'. I was immediately intrigued by the site's boldness and the fact that it was dedicated to such a controversial and illegal topic. At that time, discussions about slamming were rare, & there was no other website like it. I found it to be a unique & progressive platform and decided that I had to become a member.

As I watched some videos on the site, I noticed that many of them lacked the important element: "the reaction". The camera was always focused on the injection spot, and the faces of the participants were never shown. I felt that this made the videos less exciting. I decided that I needed to create my own videos. Not only that, but I would show the reaction and emotion of the person slamming.

I started recording my own videos, and to my surprise, they became very popular. However, this fame was short-lived as 'Get2thePoint' was shut down, and all my videos and fans were gone. Despite this setback, I continued to record more videos, and my collection has since grown to over two hundred pages. I always strive to make better videos and hope that people enjoy them as much as I enjoy making them.

So now what?

Ultimately, I started an account on Tumblr and started posting my videos on there. It was also very popular, and I garnered a ton of followers. It was all awesome until the day when my videos began getting flagged and removed. Tumblr had suddenly created a new strict policy. They began to censor certain material, like sex and drugs. Those type of things were no longer tolerated & were not permitted any more. As a result, my videos were slowly removed one by one until my account was deleted. In my opinion, Tumblr's decision to change its rules was unwise and ultimately ruined the site, losing me and many other users in the process. It seemed that their decision to cater to sponsors caused them to destroy a platform with great potential to become something even larger. Now, Tumblr is nothing like it once was, and to be quite frank, 'Tumblr SUCKS!'

With a limited number of platforms available for sharing my content, I decided to give Pornhub a try, and to my delight, I managed to amass a significant following along with my collection of videos. For many years I had my videos on their website & I thought everything was going to be alright. However, as they say, all good things must come to an end. In the early part of July 2023, Pornhub unfortunately conducted an audit of my account, and much to my apprehension, they sadly & swiftly removed all of my slamming videos, citing a violation of their "user terms." Naturally, I felt a sense of disappointment, but I've grown accustomed to such setbacks over time. Deep down, I always knew that this day would eventually arrive. It wasn't an enormous surprise.

Meanwhile, considering the very limited and unreliable options for hosting my videos, I finally made the decision to create my own website where I could share my content without worrying about it being removed. And that's how "LAcumBoy's Cyberworld of Sex, Drugs & a Camera," was born.
